

Request for Navigational Aid (s) Placement

Note: Please read all instructions before filling out this form. Please write legibly.

Danger Markers are typically placed where known water depths are less than 4 feet at distances greater than 100 feet from shore. Danger Markers or Regulatory Marks may be placed within 100 feet from shore when such placement is deemed necessary to public safety. Examples of obstructions, both natural and man-made, include sunken islands, rock piles, abandoned cribbing, wrecks, old piles or anything else below the waters surface. Obstructions that may also warrant marking could include piers, docks and partially submerged islands that otherwise can not be readily detected by boaters while underway, especially if the obstruction lies in an area heavily used by boaters or within close proximity to a navigable channel.
